

The picture above is about a historical event called "Xin Hai revolution". The dragon and the domain under the dragon on the upper left are the symbols of the flag of the Qing Empire, while the revolutionary army and its domain on the lower right are composed by many revolutionary parties and the military government of the Republic of China, the colors in the fields are the national flag colors of the Provisional Government of the Republic of China. The main reason why I choose to paint this historical event is that the result of this revolution has a great impact. One is that it ended the monarchy in China for nearly two thousand years, and the other is that the "Republic of China" was born for the first time in this revolution, the day when the revolution started is Taiwan's National day. I think this is the most important historical event that Taiwanese citizens should remember. 2022 Historical Event Drawing and Describing Contest
