

In 2012, three amazing RPG games popped up. When they were showed up in the game store. Everybody was talking about them. How special they are, how cool they are, and how scary they are. All of them have good stories.

The Witch's House, Ib, and Mad Father especially Ib. Story of Ib can be really hard to understand but if you know what it means, you'll be stunned. Since it is 2022 now. I drew each games main characters to celebrate their 10th anniversary. It is really mean to because they helped me come over my childhood.

They have attractive stories to tell. Viola was tricked by witch and dem... then being killed by her own father. Ib was accidently trapped in the art museum and the museum was full of scary painting monster. Aya was living in psych... family and her father wanted to make her become a real living doll. Every story became classic. And we all learned one thing is stay calm when things change too quick. It is very helpful for my teen life.
