The change on 2020 to 2030

Because of the Covid-19, the scientists in different fields are searching for the cure of pandemic in 2020. Though it is such a tough work that many people do not feel optimistic, those brave heroes still devote themselves to create different types of treatments to patients. They use laptops or pads to record the ingredients of medicine, calculate the proportion and the quality of ingredients to make pills. They do everything by themselves.

However, maybe in 2030, after the vaccine and medicine have been created and we have reached huge success on curing people of different ages who show flu symptoms like cough, fever and so on. Those scientists can use robots to replace human and apply remote control robots in the lab.
