My name is Alice!

Alice

The technology is more and more developed now. Cell phones and computers are best proof. Even robots are ready to appear in our life. Therefore, I thought that after ten years, we will more convenient in communicate. Thus, I found a new method, we are not using our phone or computer for communication, we use our brains.

Actually, I had this idea just because I'm the lazy person, so I think it will be very glad for me if this is reality. And I think it not just make me happy but everyone in the word. Although I think it is kind of the impossible thing, I will always expect it in the future. After all, the world is very unpredictable.
